The Master's Message to the 2024 Convention

To those of you endeavoring to know your Higher Selves, I welcome you to this season of special closeness.

Again, I assure you with every aspect of my existence that the Higher Law will indeed hold you accountable for the breaking of every lesser Law. While this may every so often begin to resonate with those of you who are still wrestling with its meaning, I encourage you to always act as if it were true, while the Needle still points North.

The simple times of knowing a tree by its fruit and of recognizing a wolf in sheep's clothing are fading from your grasp more quickly than you would care to believe.

Before you know it, the ability to navigate your way to calmer waters will be out of your hands, as even the compasses of ancient times would seem to be leading you in circles. Your directional choices will seem frightfully limited without guidance from your Higher Selves, whom many of you have yet to begin recognizing, let alone trusting.

Even now you do not truly realize how deeply befouled is the nest you have fashioned for yourselves with all of your progress in the name of fixing, comfort, convenience, and amusement. The ultimate cost to your children's children has yet to dawn upon your self-blinded eyes.

You act as if the sun will always be rising in the East and setting in the West. Why would you believe this, when what was originally established for the evolution of your existence is on the verge of becoming unsustainable, now with aspects nearly unidentifiable to the vast ebb and flow of history leading up to these times?

Lift Up Your Heads and untangle yourselves from the illusion of artificial joy and prosperity. Your separateness is nearly complete as the likes of Mammon continue conditioning you to consume, through all of your senses, all that is not in the best interest of your well-being. Your disunity is bringing discord to the indigenous Real Essence within the harmonious Heart of this Planet's truest nature.

Remember, the aspect of your Soul's evolving Higher Self is always in the Light, a state many of you now believe to be Heaven.

To be guided by the Light from within, first look above the muck and mire if you are to notice the debilitating pacification of self-generated illusions while you are being insidiously seduced by them. By Letting in the Light from Above, I do not mean to imply that Heaven is above you when, in reality, Heaven is nearer than you can truly imagine from this Plane of Karma. Lift your heads out of those illusions and know that you exist within the potential of Heaven, the Inner Planes where the Central Spiritual Sun is Reality in existence.

Courageously renouncing that which contributes to dis-ease born of arrogance, if not ignorant selfishness, is becoming less a matter of choice. This is especially true with regard to intentionally knowing what can and must be surrendered. Without this first step — renunciation — the inner knowing of what you can live with and what you cannot live without will become indiscernible, well beyond your ability to choose responsibly before taking your last breath.

What I now remind you of is nearly impossible to do alone. Only together — in the name of caring, ethical, responsible, and respectful Universal Kinship — will you discover a future containing the potential, everlasting Elixir of Joy, the only true antidote for fruitfully enduring the natural growing pains of living.

The Karma now in action may appear to be Godless, devoid of Love or Mercy, yet the Law of Reincarnation demands the expiation of Karma, the consequential Adjudication of Humanity's past behaviors. The personification of God has its value, but tends to inspire a disregard for self-responsibility. Whatever your belief system, God is Love, God is Law, and God is Karma.

You will never cease being held accountable, even when you become One with the Law of Love. There can be no existence without Compassion and Forgiveness, yet never may they be used to rescind disobedience to the Higher Law. There is no escape from Divine Justice, no matter how you may perceive the illusion of time.

Be looking up. Be looking within. Overcome and become that which you are meant to be, that which you need to be. Learn to hold Sacred the Sanctity of Life.
